

Eni restarts the Val d'Agri Oil Centre's activities

San Donato Milanese (MI), 12th August 2016 - Eni has restarted the activities at the Val d'Agri Oil Centre in Viggiano and is gradually reopening the production wells which are connected to it.

The resumption of production in the Val D'Agri concession follows notification from the Judge of Potenza that it has lifted the order of seizure on the plant and from the National Mining Office for Hydrocarbons and Earth Resources of the Ministry of Economic Development that it has authorized the plant's operation.

Eni reiterates that it will cooperate fully with the Court of Review while waiting on the outcome from the Attorney of Potenza.

Eni is confident that it will be able to confirm the correctness of its actions.
